Summertime Means More Traveling Time

Whether you are driving to a campsite for a weekend getaway, driving across the states on a much needed vacation, driving around on the weekend with a couple of friends, or taking an evening cruise after a long day's work, here are three distracted driving tips to take with you on your travels this spring and summer!

1. Cellphone mounts are hands-free, help keep your phone from sliding around, allow for easier navigation, and give a physical barrier between you and temptation.
2. Your passengers are ready to use GPS, choose music, answer a call, help a child in the backseat, etc.
3. Food is one of the biggest distractions. Eating while driving, and/or having food spill while driving, is no bueno.

Did you know that you can get insurance for single events?

It's no secret that big events like weddings can be a battle between joy and the stress of worrying about what might go wrong, such as...

- Postponement due to something like illness or venue closes. (Ask us about cancellation coverage!)
- Damages to items like food, clothes, rings, etc.
- Vendors/suppliers not meeting obligations, not showing up at all, or going bankrupt. (DJs, caterers, etc.)
- Someone gets hurt at the event.

Special events can be especially expensive. Insurance helps bring security to that special day. Afterall, your agent knows the requirements and restrictions of various carriers, can tailor coverage to fit your specific needs, and can answer your questions. In other words, your agent is ready to give you some peace of mind with special event insurance!

3 Distracted Driving Tips

1. Cellphone mounts can be very helpful.
2. Tell your passengers when you need help.
3. Make time for munching before/after driving.

Dreaming is Believing...In Yourself!

As our nonprofit of the quarter likes to say, “A job means so much more than a paycheck!”

Work Opportunities (WO) helps make a difference in the lives of people with disabilities via their vocational program. Each and every day, their team makes it their mission to show the public that work is more than just a career—it gives each of us a sense of belonging, helping us to surpass goals, experience growth, meet new people, bring to light new passions, and unearth new adventures.

After experiencing a horrible car accident and losing her job due to COVID, Sue (pictured) went in search for a new life purpose. She decided to try the vocational program at WO about a year ago. Working with the team, she learned how to hone her career goals, prepare for the interview process, tune into her strengths, and the like. Her desire to get back to work could be seen by all those she met due to her vibrant and engaging personality.

Her top ambition was to work at her favorite store, Trader Joe's. But, she was still excited when Dollar Tree offered her a job. She loved the experience and opportunities she met along the way working there. After almost a year, she decided she wanted a change, and again tried her hand at joining the Trader Joe's team.

You are now looking at one of the newest members of the TJ Family! Congratulations, Sue! And, thank you to WO for spreading those certain types of smiles found only in dreams.

For every friend you refer to Mosaic for an insurance quote between now and June 30, we will donate $10 to WO!

I've had some clients who have had their premium increase at renewal because of the credit ban. When that happens, I remind them that we have multiple companies here and that I will do the shopping for them.

Sadly, homelessness is on the rise like crime is...

If there is a homeless person seeking shelter nearby, your home or business could experience a fire from an out-of-control campfire, rat damages from food attractions, sewage backup and resulting water damage from clogged drainage, and more.
