Some 1990s Cars Are Now Classics?!

Feeling old yet? We sure are! Well...Maybe a better word would be vintage. But, this is good news. Seriously. Why?

Well, if your 90s car is no longer your daily commuter, being able to register it as a classic car can help you save some money. Insurance rates have been known to be lower for classic cars, some states wave tab fees for collector plates, and some states wave emission tests for cars older than 25!

In addition to saving money, having a vintage car means that you can get classic car insurance that is tailored to your specific needs. Many older collectable cars have stock parts, which is taken into account with the right policy. There is also usually an agreed upon value of your car at the start of your insurance policy. This means that you get peace of mind knowing that if a loss occurs, you'll get the agreed amount—no surprises.

DID YOU KNOW...

Ages of what is deemed a "classic car" vary state to state, and some insurance carriers and/or states have different levels of "classic."

How Dash Cams Can Be a BIG Help

Dashboard cameras have helped many of our clients.

- They document evidence of an accident or crime. They can prove who is at fault for an accident and/or get the plates of a hit-and-run driver. Also, some cameras remain on when parked, which can be helpful if your car is broken into.
- They can be used as learning aids for teen drivers (as well as stress easers for parents).
- They can be used for more than their intended purpose. Some have extended features like GPS units. You can also use the footage for documenting road trips.

August 5th is Dash Cam Day!

That First Day at Insurance School...

I will never forget the first day of my insurance training back in 2019. I'm Mosaic's Marketing Manager, and at the time I was new to insurance. I went to get licensed so that I could learn more about the field that I was going to advertise. The teacher came in, and the first claim example she told us surprised me. I am not going to lie—my eyes bugged a little (and mine were not the only ones that did):

Do you have a dog that digs a lot of holes? Well, it is important to fill those holes on a regular basis. There have been cases where a trespasser has gone to a home with intent to burglarize and has gotten hurt tripping in dog holes. Trespassers have been known to sue homeowners for their injuries...and win.

A Life-Saving Gift to Say Thank You for Freedom

Shannon Walker is the founder and president of Northwest Battle Buddies (NWBB)—a nonprofit organization built in 2012 to support combat veterans who have PTSD.

Through professionally-trained service dogs, NWBB gives those who fought for our freedom more freedom of their very own. Freedom from anxiety, suicidal thoughts, and guilt. While PTSD is complex and triggers can happen years later, many veterans who have service dogs know firsthand that coping is possible, and their furry friend is always ready to help. Mosaic is ready to help too. As our nonprofit this quarter, NWBB will receive $10 per insurance referral that you send Mosaic July-September. A big thanks goes out to all those who sent referrals last quarter and helped us raise $510 for Work Opportunities! How many do you think we'll get next? Let's start quoting!

Youth Day is August 12

Do you and your teen driver know the answer?

In a roundabout, who has the right away?

- A. Drivers to the right of you who are also waiting to get in.
- B. Drivers already in the traffic circle.
- C. Whoever is the fastest at merging.
- D. Only the drivers in the traffic circle who are on your right.

Is Your Vacation Home Ready for You To Leave?

Before you leave your summer home in the early fall, make a to-do list, adding items such as:

- Deep clean the kitchen and bathrooms.
- Dispose of all perishable foods.
- Remove all garbage.
- Close and lock all windows and doors.
- Install motion activation cameras inside and outside.
- Unplug appliances and electronics.
- Let your alarm company and the local police know that you will be gone.
- Have a trusted person in the area do routine sweeps while you are gone, or hire a professional home watch service.
- See about hiring a yard service or inspection service.

Do You Know Someone Who Owns a Construction Company?

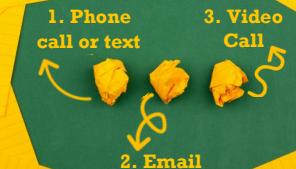

Labor shortages are causing ongoing issues. Having specialized coverage can make or break a company's ability to stand the test of time. Refer your friend for a free insurance quote!
