Your Insurance Scoop

AUGUST 2023 POSTCARD

Does Classic Car Insurance Cover Authentic Parts in Case of a Loss?

If the insurance company pays for repairs after a collision, your classic car policy will often guarantee to pay for necessary and authentic parts that might be excluded or exceed coverage limits with an ordinary car insurance policy. If you have a classic car, then you know that it is a real commitment of your time and resources.

We'll Help Protect Your Investment

It's not surprising that summer—the hottest season of the year—has the most fires.

Some fires you have more control over. See ways you can fireproof your home.

Other times, you might have a fire—like a wildfire—spread to your house that was completely out of your control. See what insurance can protect you.

- 1. Summer trips are happening all over. Before you rent out your home with a house sharing service like Airbnb or Vrbo, know the facts and ask us about home sharing insurance.
- 2. How do you ensure safe car trips? And we're not just talking about seatbelts and putting that phone down! Our blog probably has things that you never would have thought of.
- Technically there is no law in the state of Washington that requires you to have your pool or trampoline insured. But your home insurance company has its own regulations in place that you must follow to be covered and remain covered. Some insurance carriers will not accept you if you have a pool or trampoline, and others have strict guidelines that you must follow to continue doing business with them. Read some of the guidelines here.
- 4. Do you know what foods and drinks can keep you hydrated in the summertime? (As well as the ones that dehydrate?) How about what to do for your car and your house—do you think your friends and you know the basics? Find out.

Does your teenager know what to do while driving in the sun and heat? How about summertime car maintenance?

sun and heat? How about summertime car maintenance? Remind them to have backup sunglasses and ensure that their visor works in the front and side position—they don't want to find out while on the road that they have nothing to protect their eyes because sunglasses are nowhere to be seen and their visor is not moving well.

Now is also the perfect time to show them how to check their fluids, change their tire, and test their brakes. Give them this handy infographic while you are at it. In addition to our handy car maintenance graphic, you can get more car tips for you and your teenage driver here.

What Are the Financial Risks with Owning a Boat? 1. One risk is the possibility of physical damage to your boat, whether that be from a - collision, fire, severe weather, theft, or vandalism.

 2. Another financial risk is damage you cause to people and/or their property, whether it be
- their boat, dock etc.

 3. Furthermore, the associated legal costs to liability damages can be a big financial risk.

In addition to property insurance and liability insurance, ask us about an insurance policy that covers the costs of cleaning up any oil spillage if your boat is severely damaged. Learn more about boat insurance on our website here.
